Synopsis

Georgy gets a call from his friend Alexey, who asks to install the application "Find out the truth". After installation, the application collects data and shows the activity of his wife Angela with him and other men (the number of meetings, calls, likes, time spent viewing accounts, etc.).

The application alerts to probability of 76% that in the next 2 months there will be cheating and a potential lover is found. To get more information, Georgy must bring a friend.

Georgy asks his brother to register at his link and the application shows that over the past 2 months, Angela`s activity towards her new colleague has increased. In order to find out the name of a potential lover, Georgy agrees to send links to the application on his behalf.
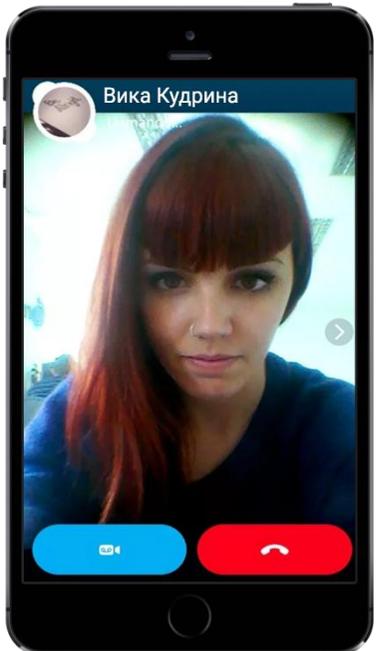

The application shows that the new colleague is his mate Alexey. His wife Vika interrupts viewing photos of Angela and Alexey from the cafe. She is looking for a friend who has not installed the application yet, so that she could find out the name of Alexey's potential lover.

The application completed the data collection and shows that a month before Georgy`s wife went cold on him, he became more interested in his employee Evgenia Shirokova. The forecast of his betrayal in the next 2 months - the probability of 84%. Georgy justifies himself aloud that they were simply put on one job project, that is why they began to communicate more during working hours.

The application offers to delete statistics for a fee of 7,000 rubles, giving only 3 minutes to think. Georgy refuses and deletes the application. The application warns if there is no payment for the remaining 2.5 minutes, it will additionally send statistics to his assistant`s husband Igor Shirokov.

Georgy calls his wife on Skype. Angela explains that Alexey was transferred to their department and he sends stupid jokes to everyone, they also have lunch together to save 20%. This is why the statistics with Alexey increased. Georgy says that he has the same situation at work. At that moment, he receives SMS with a threat from Igor Shirokov, and Angela gets a call from a furious Vika.

They decide that Georgy will pick Angela up and they will leave the city for the weekend, until things are cleared up.
